Foreword

In introducing this catalog to my friends, present and prospective, I believe I can say that I have one of the finest collections of Dahlias in existence.

Patrons in every part of the United States who have visited our gardens and made their selections after actually seeing the different varieties in bloom, have assured me that the tubers sent them, later produced blooms surpassing those from tubers obtained from other growers elsewhere. As is the case with every other phase of floral life, vigor and vitality or parentage find their response in a vigorous and prolific progeny.

I fully believe and feel free to state right here that in Colorado Springs we produce the finest, hardiest, sturdiest Dahlias to be found anywhere, blooms and tubers having the same desirable qualities in common. Tourist travelers who have visited all parts of the country and have been abroad, as well, have assured me that I have the most gorgeous Dahlia blooms for size and coloring that they have seen in all their travels, and I repeat this praise because I believe it was fully deserved.

My gardens on the road between Colorado Springs and Maniton, containing some 15,000 plants, as well as the original home gardens at 831 East Boulder Street, containing some 3,000 plants, are constantly thronged with visitors during August and September.

A cordial invitation is extended every recipient of this catalogue to visit these gardens and to obtain assurance from actual observation that the claims made for the Igo Dahlias have not been exaggerated.

The subjoined list does not by any means exhaust all the varieties of Dahlias grown in my gardens. A large number obtained from other growers, east and west, are still being experimented with, seedlings of my own production are still on probation and will not be offered to the Dahlia loving public until their merit has been fully established.

In conclusion, all varieties tagged and sold, are guaranteed true to name. If by any inadvertence a mistake occurs, as may happen with so many plants to handle and with several assistants, it will be made good. My prices are reasonable and will not suffer by comparison with prices asked by other growers.

TO MY CUSTOMERS
NEW AND OLD.

Dear Patrons:

I would love to have a heart-to-heart talk with each and every one of you. Many of you have been growing dahlias for years and are experienced in floriculture. I have been in the business for over fourteen years, yet I will say that each season teaches something new, something better. Each year develops new ideas and methods that are of inestimable help to the dahlia grower. All these new ideas we add to our comprehensive set of directions, for the benefit of our customers.

Dahlias were first discovered in the Rocky Mountain region. For this reason I claim, without fear of contradiction, that dahlias grown here produce seed and tubers of greater vigor than those grown anywhere else in the world. Why not? This is their original habitat. The above statement is proven by the superior beauty, coloring and size of the blooms grown by many of my customers who say "Colorado dahlia tubers and seeds are the ones that produce a strong and extensive growth the first year, and do not have to be acclimated."

DAHLIA SEED: We grow nearly five acres of dahlias. We gather our seed from only our very finest varieties. Furthermore we select only the heart seed. That is, we save only the strong vigorous seed from the center of the pod, and discard the seed from the outer rim of the pod. All our seed is hand-picked, hand-threshed, and hand-sorted. Compare our prices for these seeds (about one cent each) with the three cents per seed and up that other seedmen and dahlia growers charge. If you wish to grow a large field of dahlias the first season, and are not able to obtain a sufficient assortment of tubers, I would surely buy seed and set out the seedlings.

ALUMINUM TAGS: How many of you older growers have used paper or wooden tags to your sorrow? Invariably the names fade when wet. We now use aluminum tags with the names embossed, that last indefinitely. To avoid mistakes we bury the tags with our finest tubers. We can furnish the tags, copper wired, for five cents each. Beware of zinc tags, that corrode the first year.

MONOGRAPH ON DAHLIA CULTURE: This is a condensed treatise on the entire culture of the flower, at $1.00 per copy. FREE WITH EACH $5.00 ORDER.

In conclusion I wish to say that we try to please all our customers. If we please YOU, tell your friends, giving us their names, and we will send them our catalogue. If, for any reason, we fail to give satisfaction, we are anxious to know just why, and will gladly answer all letters that enclose stamped envelope for reply. Our references are: any bank or commercial agency in this city, the local Chamber of Commerce, and - Our Customers.

Truly yours for service,

Marguerite Igo

Rare Dahlias

The following list includes some splendid Dahlias, many of them my own creations, produced after careful study and experimenting.

Amun Ra—One of the finest of the new Decoratives. It has wonderful color tones of copper, orange, amber and bronze and is one of the largest dahlias so far produced..... 2.00

Star of Washington—One of the most attractive pink decoratives, arresting attention in every collection where it occurs. Its long, strong stems make it an excellent cut flower..... 1.00

Mona Lisa—A desirable Hybrid Show, lavender pink in color. A profuse bloomer with long, stiff stems, making it fine for bouquet purposes 1.00

Cerisian—A decorative whose color is hard to describe. It is a kind of pink shading to a purple tinge. It is a good bloomer and when cut lasts for several days..... .25

Melrose—A decorative of a very attractive shade of pink. The large flowers are borne on good stiff stems..... .50

Mrs. R. R. Strange—One of the finest decoratives of its ground color, a glancing copper with faint shadings of old gold and old rose. The blooms are large and borne on first class stems 1.00

Carleton Hall—A wonderfully rich velvety red decorative. A good, free bloomer on long stems bearing the flowers conspicuously erect. This is one of my own 1921 seedlings..... 3.00

J. C. Hale. Beautiful large red decorative. Good stem, free-bloomer, good keeper as cut flower 10.00

J. Ernest Tompkins—(Decorative)—A lovely violet-red color. The giant blooms are borne on splendid stems. A combination of size and delicacy of form and color..... 10.00

The Flapper—Combining the Hybrid Cactus and Peony types. Of a peculiar shade of pink with prettily curled petals. Eminently satisfactory as a cut flower. This is another of my 1921 seedlings here for the first time put on the market..... 1.00

Mrs. Carl Salbach—Regarded by many as the best of the Salbach creations. A mauve pink decorative with a very large flower on a long stout stem. Splendid cut flower..... 1.00

Black Show—Petals black in center, shading to dark maroon tips. It has a wonderful stem and stands up well as a cut flower..... 1.00

Wynne Janney, a beautiful cream colored decorative overlaid with rose. For beauty and delicacy of coloring, this is one of the best and most striking flowers I have ever produced. It stands up well as a cut flower.....25.00

DAHLIA SEED—Produced in my own gardens and by hand pollination from my finest varieties, 50c and $1.00 the packet.

Also some fine Mixed Gladiolus Bulbs at 50c per dozen or $4 per hundred.

ZINNIA SEED—Mammoth mixed, attaining to the size of Dahlias, 50c the packet.

GLADIOLI—Choice mixed varieties, first size bulbs, 75c the dozen.

ALUMINUM TAGS—Having my own Embossing Machine, I am in a position to supply indestructible, everlasting Aluminum Tags, embossed with names to any order and wired complete with non-corroding copper wire, for 60c the dozen; Wooden Labels or Tags, 10c the dozen.

A VALUABLE AND COMPLETE MONOGRAPH—Giving the fruits of my own study and observation over many years of Dahlia culture, on how to raise fine Dahlias in any climate in the United States where the impression and experience has been that they do not thrive. Worth its weight in gold to the Dahlia enthusiast. Price $1.00. This Monograph will be given free with all single orders of $5 or over.

TERMS: Cash with order.

All Dahlias are tagged, well packed and shipped by Parcel Post, unless otherwise ordered. Make remittance sufficient to cover postage. Any balance due you will be refunded. Full directions for growing with each order.
